Congressional Summary.

Thursday, May 29.—SEN.—The petition of federal soldiers in Rhode Island, presented by Mr. McDonald, was briefly discussed and laid over. Mr. McDonald's bill regarding the military bill, which had been introduced in the House, elicited a brilliant debate between Messrs. Beck, Wallace, Hill and Blaine. The following committee was appointed on the bill: Messrs. Beck, Wallace, Hill and Blaine. The bill was then referred to the committee on the bill.

The Indianapolis News says that stalwartism got a black eye at Cincinnati on Wednesday. But the resolutions that were adopted are full of bloody shirt slang, and FOSTER'S speech after the convention was full of hate and sectionalism. GARFIELD'S was in the same vein. If the spirit of the convention was that of the liberal element in the republican party, in Heaven's name by what feelings must the "stalwart" wing be animated?

THE SENTINEL is daily giving the fruits of genuine newspaper enterprise to the public, and we are glad to say that the people of Fort Wayne are showing their appreciation of this enterprise in a most hearty manner.

Yesterday the SENTINEL printed the president's veto message in full, together with the action of the house of representatives thereon. On the previous day it presented the proceedings of the Ohio republican convention at Cincinnati, including the nomination for governor, within a few moments after that nomination was made. It also published the result of the great Derby race run at Epsom Downs, England, that same afternoon. The SENTINEL is now printing more news than any evening daily in the state, and will continue to do so. From six to eight columns of live, fresh city news are printed daily, besides the cablegrams, home and foreign, monetary and commercial reports, proceedings of congress, editorials, miscellany, etc. The only difficulty we are experiencing now is in delivering the paper in all parts of the city at as early an hour as is desirable. In some of the outskirts the carriers necessarily arrive quite late, but as soon as new press facilities are obtained that inconvenience will be obviated. We shall also begin, in a few days, to print two editions daily, one at 3 and one at 4, and shall print a third at 5 p. m. when news of importance, either local or telegraphic, may render it advisable. When our subscribers bear in mind that each issue of the daily SENTINEL costs them a little less than one cent, we think they will marvel greatly that so much can be furnished for so little.

THE LAST VETO.

Mr. HAYES' message vetoing the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was sent to the house of representatives yesterday afternoon, and was printed in full in last evening's SENTINEL, occupying two columns of solid nonpareil type (equal to four columns of the news type in use in the city papers).

Mr. HAYES bases his first objection to the bill upon the fact that it contains general legislation, which, in his opinion, should not be tacked on to appropriation bills. His view on this subject are set forth in his message to the house vetoing the army appropriation bill, to which he refers. There is very little dissent from the opinion that the practice of incorporating general legislation in an appropriation bill is an unwise one, and should not be resorted to except on extraordinary occasions. But there remains the fact that it is not unconstitutional; that it is abundantly justified by numerous precedents, most of them made by the republican party, and that, in the present instance, a de facto president, who was never elected to office, has joined with a minority of congress to obstruct and defeat the will of a majority of congress, who have at their backs an overwhelming majority of the American people.

Mr. HAYES, when in congress, was an active supporter of this kind of legislation and never, by word or action, dissented from it. A regard for consistency should close his mouth on this subject now.

Mr. HAYES proceeds to defend with considerable ability and not a little sophistry, the principle of national interference with elections. It is right here that the democratic party takes direct issue with him, and it is perfectly ready to go before the people of the country with the issue. The democratic position is that the people of the several states are abundantly able to conduct their own elections, in absolute freedom, without any interference by the military power of the government or supervision by federal officials. That they should do so was unmistakably the intention of the founders of our government.

Mr. HAYES says "the great body of the people want fair and free elections." Of course they do, and they mean to have them. The presidential veto may delay but it cannot prevent such elections. The Anglo Saxon spirit is still alive in the United States, and will assert itself at the polls at the first opportunity.

The issue is now squarely made up between the two parties, and the democrats have no reason to be dissatisfied with it. They can safely appeal to the patriotism of the country, and in the meantime congress had best pass the appropriation bills, and adjourn, appealing the question to the supreme tribunal of this country. There can be no doubt as to the verdict.

Mayor Zollinger's Message.

(Wabash Courier.)

The Fort Wayne News accuses Sam Morris, of the SENTINEL, with having written Mayor Zollinger's last message. Mr. Morris denies the charge, and expresses his regrets that the message is a good deal better one than he could possibly write. Our acquaintance with Mr. Zollinger leads us to believe that he is capable of writing his own messages without assistance from Sam Morris or any other man.

Very Unkind.

(Columbia City Post.)

The Fort Wayne SENTINEL occupies a position of serene "benignity" on the democratic presidential question. It is for and it ain't for.

ATTRACTING MUCH ATTENTION.

Dr. Price's Unique Perfumes are attracting much attention. His Floral Riches is indeed a toilet luxury. In the sick room, a disinfectant greatly refreshing to the invalid. For the handkerchief, a persistent, delightful perfume. Dentists, clergymen, orators and professional men will be pleased with it.

The Blind Asylum.

(Indianapolis News.)

The applicants for the position of superintendent of the blind asylum are Olney Newell, Boone county; Prof. Wilson, Johnson county; A. C. Hopkins, of Howard; Truman Handy, Hancock county; Mr. Ketch, Grant county; Hughes East, J. M. Lord, J. W. King, and W. V. Howk, Indianapolis. A dark horse in the person of Prof. Luke, of Ligonier, was entered yesterday.

The Physical Paradox.

It has been said that "the blood is the source of life." It is as truly the source of disease and death. No life, that is to say, no healthy tissue can be generated from impure blood, no organ of the body can normally perform its functions when supplied with impure blood. The fluid that should carry life and health to every part, carries only weakness and disease. Blood is the source of life, only when it is pure. If it has become diseased, it must be cleansed by proper medication, else every pulsation of the human heart sends a wave of disease through the system. To cleanse the blood of all impurities, use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets, the most effectual, alterative, tonic, and cathartic remedies yet discovered. They are especially efficient in scrofulous diseases.

YOU CAN BE HAPPY.

If you will stop all your extravagant and wrong notions in doctoring yourself and families with expensive doctors or humbug cures, that do harm always, and use only nature's simple remedies for all your ailments, you will be well, and happy, and save great expense. The greatest remedy for this, the great, wise and good will tell you, is Hop Bitters—believe it. See "Proverbs" in another column.

WASHINGTON.

Mr. Hayes' Veto of the Legislative, Appropriation Bill.

An Attenuated Piece of "Stalwart" Reasoning.

The House Refuses to Pass the Bill Over the Veto.

Washington, May 29.—The following message from the president was delivered to the house of representatives this afternoon:

To the House of Representatives:—

Sirs:—After mature consideration of the bill entitled "An act making appropriations for the legislative, executive and judicial expenses of the government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1880, and for other purposes," heretofore reported to the house of representatives in which it originated, with the following objections:

The main purpose of the bill is to appropriate money required to support during the next fiscal year the various departments of the government. The amount appropriated exceeds in the aggregate $10,000,000. It is proposed to keep in operation the essential functions of all the great departments of the government, and to support the various departments of the government.

The bill contains no objectionable provisions, and is a measure of great importance to the government. It is proposed to keep in operation the essential functions of all the great departments of the government, and to support the various departments of the government.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

EYES DROP.

Two Murderers Hanged in California.

A Vast Crowd Witness the Execution.

San Francisco, May 29.—Troy Dye, formerly public administrator of Sacramento county, and his partner in crime, Edward Anderson, were hung at Sacramento to-day for the murder of A. M. Tullis last August. Last night Dye took leave of his wife and children, father and brothers. For some time past he has behaved in a wild and violent manner, but as the end approached, calmed himself and preserved a rational demeanor, except occasional outbreaks. At an early hour this morning a crowd gathered in the streets and on the tops of the buildings near the court-house, but only the officials, spiritual advisers and representatives of the press were admitted to the court-yard. During the morning Dye made arrangements for the disposal of his property, while Anderson, who has preserved throughout unmoved tranquility, remained in conference with his clergymen.

At 11:50 the prisoners were notified to prepare for the scaffold. Anderson came from the cell smiling and self-possessed, while Dye was so overcome with emotion as to require support. At noon the prisoners ascended the scaffold. While the shrouds were drawn over them the clergymen read the testament concerning Anderson's spiritual condition, also a statement written by Anderson, admitting the justice of his sentence and expressing a hope of redemption.

Dye meanwhile grew weak and pale, and vomited twice, but remained quiet. The clergymen then began prayer, the nooses were adjusted, black caps drawn over their heads, and at 12:13 the drop fell.

The necks of both the condemned were broken by the fall, and in fourteen minutes they were pronounced dead. A post mortem on the remains of Dye is now in progress, in view of ascertaining the condition of the brain.

FLOWERS FOR THE FALLEN.

Decorating the Graves of the Dead Heroes.

How the Day Was Observed in This City.

Programme for This Evening.

Decoration Day dawned bright and clear, and was ushered in by the booming of the cannon and the tolling of the fire bell, under the direction of Chief Vogel. At 7 o'clock the committee on decoration, consisting of Messrs. Harper, Humphrey, McGuire, Sullivan, Rohan and Blee, met at the Aveline House and proceeded in carriages to Lindenwood Cemetery, accompanied by a SEXTON, reporter. They were laden down with beautiful flowers generously furnished by the patriotic ladies of the city. Lindenwood was richly decked in green, and never looked more beautiful or inviting. The committee visited the graves of the forty-seven brave men whose bodies are interred in this lovely resting place of the dead, and laid upon them the floral tributes in memory of their heroism. The grave of the noble Mrs. George, the closing years of whose life were passed in ministering to the sick and wounded and dying who sacrificed their lives for their country, was not forgotten. But a few feet distance is the grave of Col. Bass, who shed his blood as freely as the air for the cause to which he had pledged himself. Both were acting for the same great end, yet how different their work: the one engaged in doing the deadly work of war, the other in staunching the wounds and allaying the sufferings resulting therefrom.

The following are the names of the soldiers buried in Lindenwood:

Sec. A—Simon S. Bass, lot 38, April 19, 1862; Thomas George, Sec. F, soldiers' lot (108)—John F. Voehler, April 28, 1862; Thomas W. Lentz, March 9, 1865; Edward Feltz, May 23, 1865; Theodore Porter, April 18, 1866; Henry Crumley, June 5, 1868; L. N. Tannehill, May 19, 1874; W. L. G. Thompson, lot 50, October 31, 1862; Charles Tubbs, lot 10, Jan. 5, 1864; John B. Haines, lot 140, Feb. 9, 1864; Isaiah McElfatrick, lot 36, Oct. 4, 1866; Daniel Haubecker, lot 87, Jan. 21, 1868; Sam. P. Freeman, lot 114, Sept. 15, 1873; Sedgwick Livingston, lot 27, Jan. 31, 1864; Charles R. Scott, lot 59, March 3, 1864.

Sec. B—W. H. Link, lot 46, Sept. 24, 1862; Wm. Saunders, lot 5, Dec. 6, 1862; F. H. Aveline, lot 64, Dec. 14, 1863; Lewis Stratton, lot 37, May 18, 1866; Philip Gable, lot 22, Oct. 19, 1864; Charles D. Creditor, lot 86, April 8, 1865; Marcus W. Bayless, lot 76, Nov. 2, 1868; Harry A. Coburn, lot 99, May 9, 1864; Wm. Kincaid, lot 77, May 10, 1878; Leander E. Miller, lot 79, July 18, 1865; Chas. Dudley, lot 12, Dec. 18, 1863.

Sec. D—Wm. J. Coles, lot 181, March 14, 1864; Wm. A. M. Benfrev, lot 90, June 12, 1866; Levi Keagle, lot 28, April 19, 1867; Edward Kieckley, lot 14, June 7, 1867; Fred. Ekkhart, lot 104, Feb. 23, 1868; John W. West, lot 97, March 23, 1877.

Sec. S—Clark L. Wilcox, lot 18, Nov. 21, 1866; Samuel Cole, lot 1, June 16, 1873; Valentine Heutszel, lot 80, Feb. 25, 1873; Levi Totten, lot 46, Aug. 21, 1864; Larry H. Carter, lot 26, Oct. 10, 1864; Matthew Edmondson, lot B—2, July 23, 1865; Sidney R. Foster, lot B—2, Oct. 29, 1868; John Cunifur, lot B—2, Jan. 18, 1868; S. A. Hitchcock, lot B—4, Aug. 21, 1872.

Sec. J—John W. Todd, lot 105, Nov. 6, 1864; Hugh Haggerty, lot 65, Oct. 29, 1865; Joseph Burchfield, lot 92, Dec. 8, 1872.

Sec. T—Jacob Driebelbiss, Aug. 7, 1875.

From Lindenwood the committee proceeded to the Catholic Cemetery, four miles east of the city where the graves of four soldiers were decorated. The committee visited the sexton of every cemetery in and about the city to obtain the names of all buried soldiers, and if any were missed it was not the fault of the committee.

A PRETTY PAIR.

The Effects of Lafayette Street Whisky.

When time was called at city hall this morning, Geo. Adams and Geo. Ragan showed up, and found themselves arraigned on a charge of exposing their persons. Ragan informed his honor that he was a harness maker and came from Huntington. Adams was a street car driver, and got money yesterday from the company to visit his mother-in-law, or some other relative living at a distance from the city. Ragan made Adams's acquaintance yesterday and asked him to set 'em up. Adams didn't care Adam for money, so he took Ryan to a Lafayette street gin mill and they both bowed up at his (Adams's) expense. The regulation Lafayette street whisky will make a man forget his name, and the result of Adams's generosity was that in a very short time this pair of congenial spirits lay on disabille sweetly dreaming the happy hours away in Dewald's grove. Patrolmen Owens, fearing they would catch cold, gathered them tenderly in.

The mayor heard the facts, and said that fifteen days each at the cruckery would satisfy the offended majesty of the law. It didn't satisfy Adams and Ragan however, and sentence was suspended to give them an opportunity to visit some of the leading watering places of the east. His honor said if they missed the first train out of the city an officer would escort them to summer residence on the north side where they could get a good view of the circus next week. As the distinguished strangers bowed their way out of the magisterial presence, Ragan struck a dramatic attitude and in stentorian tones said to his illustrious associate: "Good bye, Adams, I wish yez good luck but I'll shun yez from this day, as I would a pest house."

From Lindenwood the committee proceeded to the Catholic Cemetery, four miles east of the city where the graves of four soldiers were decorated.

The committee visited the sexton of every cemetery in and about the city to obtain the names of all buried soldiers, and if any were missed it was not the fault of the committee.

Joe Brackenkridge.

The Indianapolis Sentinel says: He is a neat looking young fellow, and took his sentence very much to heart.

The Journal says:

He will not go north for several days, owing to request of his attorneys. Brackenkridge was very much disturbed over the sentence, for he had made restitution of the stolen money, and presumed upon the influence of his family and friends to prevent punishment.

To-day's Sentinel says:

Young Brackenkridge, of Fort Wayne, who was sentenced to two years' imprisonment in the penitentiary by Judge Gresham, Wednesday, is still in the city, under the guardianship of the United States marshal, while strong efforts are being made to induce the president to grant a pardon.

Basket Meeting.

To the Editor of the Sentinel:

As a matter of explanation, I wish to say through your paper, that the Universalists are not arranging to hold a "picnic" at Rome City next Sunday, June 1st. It is to be a basket meeting, where regular religious services will be conducted, and all who go to Rome City on that day will be under the best of influences, better even than in Fort Wayne.

A PRETTY PAIR.

The Effects of Lafayette Street Whisky.

When time was called at city hall this morning, Geo. Adams and Geo. Ragan showed up, and found themselves arraigned on a charge of exposing their persons. Ragan informed his honor that he was a harness maker and came from Huntington. Adams was a street car driver, and got money yesterday from the company to visit his mother-in-law, or some other relative living at a distance from the city. Ragan made Adams's acquaintance yesterday and asked him to set 'em up. Adams didn't care Adam for money, so he took Ryan to a Lafayette street gin mill and they both bowed up at his (Adams's) expense. The regulation Lafayette steet whisky will make a man forget his name, and the result of Adams's generosity was that in a very short time this pair of congenial spirits lay en dishabille sweetly dreaming the happy hours away in Dewald's grove. Patrolmen Owens, fearing they would catch cold, gathered them tenderly in.

The mayor heard the facts, and said that fifteen days each at the crackerly would satisfy the offended majesty of the law. It didn't satisfy Adams and Ragan however, and sentence was suspended to give them an opportunity to visit some of the leading watering places of the east. His honor said if they missed the first train out of the city an officer would escort them to summer residence on the north side where they could get a good view of the circus next week. As the distinguished strangers bowed their way out of the magisterial presence, Ragan struck a dramatic attitude and in stentorian tones said to his illustrious associate: "Good bye, Adams, I wish yez good luck but I'll shun yez from this day, as I would a pest house."
